Heavy Vote Indicated On Desert

Palm Springs area voters appeared set for a strong turnout at the polls today, but no record vote by the approximately 11,300 voters within the school district area was forecast this morning.

Spot checks of 12 precincts in Palm Springs after 11 a.m. showed that 469 of the 2,175 registered voters or approximately 22 per cent, had already cast ballots.

A total of 6,788 voters are registered within the 42 precincts of Palm Springs. Cathedral City precincts had 1,795 registered voters, and Desert Hot Springs 1,152.

School Bonds
Other registrations are 853 in the eight Garnet precincts; 214 in Thousand Palms; 332 at Rancho Mirage, and 188 in the Thunderbird precinct. The registration gave Republicans a 5,964 to 4,815 edge within the school district.

Voters within the Palm Springs Unified School District will decide today between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. the fate of the proposed $1,965 million bond issue for a new junior high school in Palm Springs. The bond issue must be affirmed by two-thirds of the district votes cast today to pass.

Other issues before the voters in the 42 Palm Springs precincts and 24 precincts in the surrounding desert communities is selection of a county supervisor for the fourth district, from a field of seven candidates, and nomination selection of congressional, senatorial and gubernatorial candidates.

Palm Desert
Voting at Palm Desert this morning also ran an estimated 25 per cent of the registrations. Early indications from strongly conservative Silver Spur precinct revealed a 10 per cent stronger vote than in average county precincts. Early predictions of the county vote had indicated a voter turnout of approximately 60 to 65 per cent of the registered voters. A median 63 per cent in the school district would tally approximately 6,900 votes cast during the day, but the vote at noon revealed a strong influx of voters in the evening hours would be required to pull the vote near the two-thirds mark.

New Bids Called on City Building

A new bid call for construction of a city building to be leased by the Department of Motor Vehicles for a Palm Springs office was approved by the city council last night.

The action was taken on recommendations by Thomas W. Essen, city public works director, who told the council revised specifications already prepared could slice

President in Challenge For Proof from AMA

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today challenged the American Medical Association to prove that he was wrong when he said the organization opposed the basic principles of social security.

The chief executive sent a caustically worded letter to Dr. Leonard W. Larson, AMA president, thereby firing another round in his battle with the AMA over the administration's plan for medical care for the aged financed through the social security system.

"If your organization did not oppose social security before its enactment — only afterwards — I will be glad to point out this unique distinction at my next press conference," the President told Larson.

Kennedy, in his public statements, has linked the AMA with the charge heard in the 1930s that the social security system was a "cruel hoax."

Larson wrote the President May 25 to deny that the AMA was an enemy of social security. The White House said the President did not receive Larson's letter until two days after it appeared in the newspapers. It said Kennedy noted this in his letter to Larson.

"Your letter objects to my news conference statement that the AMA was among the opponents of the original social security system," the President wrote Larson. "If your letter endorses the social security concept on behalf of the AMA, if it signifies a willingness on the part of the AMA to include doctors under its coverage — then I am certain that your letter will be enthusiastically welcomed by the great majority of the American people."

Kennedy told Larson that if the AMA never opposed Social Security, the public deserved an explanation of certain AMA statements. Among these, he said, was a 1919 statement by Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the AMA Journal, that all forms of compulsory security would lead to removal of individual responsibility, weakening of national caliber, and "a definite step toward either communism or totalitarianism."

Kennedy also cited a 1949 resolution of the AMA House of Delegates saying in part that social security was "in fact a compulsory socialistic tax" and a 1953 reference by the group to its record of "disapproval of the principle" involved in social security.

Nixon Fate Decided in Vote Today

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California voters go to the polls today to decide the political future of Richard M. Nixon, 49.

Nixon, almost elected president in 1960, is seeking the Republican nomination for governor against a conservative, Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell of Los Angeles.

If he wins, as he is favored to, the former vice president will face Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown in the November general election.

If He Loses

If he captures the GOP nomination handily and goes on to beat Brown in the fall, Nixon will become governor of the nation's most heavily populated state in 1963. Even though he insists he has made an "unequivocal pledge" to serve a full-four year term as governor, Nixon, as the winner, would be a major influence in GOP party circles in the next presidential year in 1964.

A loss to Shell would virtually end the political career of Nixon, who came within 118,500 votes of defeating President Kennedy in 1960.

Shell, a wealthy young oil man who has been Republican leader in the lower house of the legislature for the past three years, has run from the start as a conservative. Nixon forces say he is backed both by Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and by Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society.

The Birch Society has been one of the major campaign issues between Nixon and Shell. Nixon has denounced Welch and urged Republicans to get out of the society. Shell says he is not a member of the organization but welcomes its support.

Shell's Support Grows

Shell started the campaign last fall far back of Nixon but in recent weeks has gained enough support that some of Nixon's supporters admit he may get as much as 40 per cent of the GOP vote.

The first call sought completion for September occupancy; the new call will be geared to November occupancy by the state vehicle department, Essen explained. Recommended changes in the specifications include elimination of the styrofoam roofing, reduction of wallblock thickness, and changes in foundation specifications, Essen said.

Essen told the council that his revisions in the building "won't be apparent to the naked eye," and would not downgrade appearance of the civic center site at Tahquitz-McCallum Way and El Cielo Road. He reported that the new bid call could allow 102 working days for the contract instead of the 82-day job asked in the first bid call, and possibly aid in cost reduction.

Essen said.

NEWS in BRIEF

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Acting U.N. Secretary General Thant today condemned the projected U.S. high altitude nuclear tests over the Pacific.

"I feel that these projected high-altitude tests are a manifestation of a very dangerous psychosis which is in evidence today," Thant told a news conference.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today gave astronaut Scott Carpenter, 37, a warm welcome to the White House and congratulated him again on his recent three-orbit flight around the earth.

Carpenter, his wife, Rene, and their four children stopped off in Washington enroute from Langley Field, Va., to New York for a luncheon honoring him later today.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Negotiators for 450,000 off-train employees today delayed agreement on a railroad offer of a 10.2-cent an hour wage increase.

Railroad and union negotiators entered what had been billed as a possible showdown session on the roads' offer to go along with a presidential emergency board's recommendations on wage increases.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee voted 16-9 today to boost the legal limit on the national debt to a record high $308 billion for nine months starting July 1.

The limit now is set temporarily at $300 billion. President Kennedy had requested that it be boosted to $308 billion during the entire fiscal year starting July 1.

ALGIERS (UPI) — The outlawed Secret Army Organization (OAS) ended its truce with the Moslems today and Algeria braced for a new round of terrorism.

The European extremists called off their four-day lull in terrorism at midnight. Early this morning two Moslems were killed in Algiers.

TOKYO (UPI) — An unforgettable smile can be had in Tokyo now for only $1.20.

Dr. Sukeji Iino, founder of the Tokyo Scaling Center, colors teeth pearl, blue or pink with a coating which he claims is "utterly harmless" to the human body.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — U.S. assisted airborne attacks saved one South Vietnamese village from Communist attackers Monday and inflicted a slashing defeat on another Red band, authorities said today.

Total casualties for the day's fighting totaled 42 Communists dead, 12 wounded and 24 captured. Seventeen loyal troops were killed and nine wounded.

Complaints On Sand Renewed

"We are being buried in sand," Jack F. Crosby complained to the Riverside County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

Crosby spoke as the supervisors took up a report by County Counsel Ray Sullivan on progress made toward drafting of an ordinance that would require builders to control blow sand in the desert areas they are working.

"We have to shovel our cars out of the sand repeatedly," Crosby continued.

"Trees are getting shorter and shorter. The dust is killing our small pets, filling their nostrils with dust and suffocating them. 40% of the houses here are either for rent or sale."

The complaints were said to be based on operations by E. L. Yeager Co. which removed some 40 acres of top soil down to the silt base at Thousand Palms.

Yeager left some time ago, but Crosby asserted "the sand still blows and blows."

Letters to Yeager have not brought any reply, as well as one letter from District Attorney William O. Mackey, to whom the owners had turned for help, Crosby said.

Road Commissioner A. C. Keith reported that he had contacted Yeager and several other public officials. All agreed that any action on the land now would increase, rather than decrease the problem. According to Keith, Yeager offered to go in and seed the property, but did not feel obligated to keep it wet down.

It was decided to continue to study the problem for another week, at which time County Counselman Ray Sullivan would furnish a report on an ordinance requiring land developers to control the dust they stir up, and to confer with Yeager.

Municipal Golf Course Revenues in May Jump

Cash deposits from play at the Palm Springs Municipal Golf Course were up $1,572.07 over May of last year, a report released by the City Manager's office shows.

Accumulated cash deposits for May total $16,231.35, as compared with a total of $14,659.28 one year ago, the statement compiled by Shelby Langford, director of finance, said. A total of 3012 persons played the course last month, as opposed to a total of 3336 in May 1961, a decrease of 324 persons.

Top-to-Bottom Slashes for 1963 Promised

NEW YORK (UPI) — Investors hoped an administration pledge of "top-to-bottom" tax cuts in 1963 would help bring about a resurgence today in a slumping stock market.

Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, in an address Monday night to the New York Financial Writers Association, said President Kennedy plans to present to Congress next January a broad plan of "top-to-bottom" reduction in the rates of income tax.

Dillon spoke after a day which saw traders drop more than $11 billion in paper value of stocks, continuing the downward trend of last Friday. The slump brought the stock market to a point halfway from that reached May 28, when the market posted losses almost equal to the crash year of 1929.

Dillon told the financial writers the administration had made "no decisions on any of the details" of the proposed tax cuts. He also did not specify whether the proposal would include both corporate and individual taxes.

Predicts Higher Profits

The Treasury secretary said last week's trading on the nation's exchanges was a case in which "all vestiges of reason were temporarily pushed aside." He predicted the United States can look forward to continued economic progress which "should also bring with it a rise in corporate profits."

Dillon's remarks appeared aimed at settling the nerves of jittery traders and to boost confidence in the nation's economic future.

Volume Monday was 5,380,000 shares, compared with 5,760,000 on Friday and a 9,350,000 turnover a week ago Monday.

The Standard and Poor's index of 500 stocks was off 2.11 to 57.26, and the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 17 points to 583.68.

Time To Reflect

Dillon referred to last week's frenetic activity on Wall Street as "a phenomenon that should give us all pause."

"Despite the fact that over the postwar period the share of profits in the sales dollar has declined," he declared, "there is general agreement among business forecasters that total pre-tax corporate profits for 1962 are breaking out of the narrow range in which they have moved for the past three years and will reach a new record high, well above $50 billion."

Dillon said last year's bull market stemmed from a belief that "inflation was just around the corner." He said the fears have "been pretty well dispelled. And that is the basic reason behind the decline in stock prices over the past few months."

Congress Welcomes Tax Slash

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic congressional leaders told President Kennedy today they would welcome an administration proposal for a cut in income taxes next year.

Speaker John W. McCormack informed newsmen of this attitude after the legislative leaders' weekly breakfast meeting with Kennedy at the White House. Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon said Monday night that tax reductions would be proposed next year. "Congress is always receptive to that kind of proposal," McCormack told newsmen.

Spelled Out
He said the leaders told Kennedy of their attitude. The speaker said they were "in favor of tax cuts."

Dillon spelled out the tax cut proposal in a speech in New York. He said the administration's tax reform bill to be submitted to Congress in 1963 would provide a "top-to-bottom" reduction in income tax rates.

He was expected to be questioned in detail about the proposal during a scheduled appearance today before the Senate Finance Committee.

Opinion Divided
Dillon did not say whether he meant corporate as well as individual taxes. There is some division of opinion within the Democratic party about including corporations in a tax cut, although informed Washington opinion believes it likely.

Both Dillon and Kennedy have guardedly mentioned the possibility of cutting taxes, but not in the direct language the secretary used Monday night in a talk to the New York Financial Writers Association.

Approve Spread On Assessments

The Palm Springs City Council approved the spread of assessments for District 48 Monday, after learning that the method used by Thomas W. Essen, public works director, resulted in a lower charge to one protestant than the method asked.

The district, for sewers on including Merito Place, Canyon Place, Mission Road, Mt. View Place and Prescott Drive, was formed after Glenn Austin, 735 N.

City Will Muffle Its Clipping

The "quiet" signs will soon go up during mowing of the 7,200 yards of the Palm Springs Golf Course.

On recommendation of Rowland Phelps, assistant manager and greens superintendent for the city facility, the city council Monday approved purchase of two electric mowers. The mowers, to be purchased from B. Hayman, Los Angeles, on the low bid of $749.60 plus trade-in of two three-year-old mowers, will be equipped with a vacuum pickup for mowers, will operate on batteries across the long greens.

"We wanted electric mowers because we mow early 5:30 or 6 a.m.," Phelps told the council at 10:30 p.m. yesterday. The electric mowers wouldn't disrupt sleep of homeowners adjacent to the greens and the Hayman firm has a top service record, Phelps said.

A $1,970.80 verti-cut machine — a mechanical plug cutter — was also approved for purchase from Hayman. The Hayman bid was accepted because of a vacuum pick-up device not included on the West Point Industries low bid price of $1,858.48.

Censors Are Overdoing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., said today government censors are overdoing it when they chop up statements by military leaders to be given in secret to congressional committees.

The chairman of the special Senate subcommittee investigating military censorship said "it's just irritation to see some of these statements with words crossed out."

"A public statement is a different matter," he said.

Stennis told Undersecretary of State George W. Ball he would make a strong recommendation to the full armed services committee that there be no censorship of statements to be made in executive sessions of congressional panels. Pentagon witnesses are free to answer questions without restraint at such sessions, but their prepared statements are subject to review.

Prescott Drive, circulated petitions to 47 property owners. Austin told the city council last Monday that his spread portion calculated by Essen at $1,225 on the basis of the total square footage of Austin's property, was twice what he thought it would be. A spread on front footage would be equitable, Austin said.

Essen explained that the square footage was used because some lots had shallow depth and broad frontage, and others had large interior footage with multiple hook-up potential but comparatively narrow footage. The square footage computation would result in approximately $115 less billing to Austin than the sought front footage figure, the council was told last night.

The council approved the Essen-recommended spread for the $28,300 job.

High Court Decision Encourages

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk and other top California legal officers were generally encouraged Monday by the U.S. Supreme Court's decision to hear more arguments on the battle with Arizona over Colorado River water.

They indicated this might mean the court would not accept totally the far-reaching recommendations of Simon Rifkind, the special master who heard the Arizona suit against California. The Rifkind recommendations, if approved by the high court, would expand Arizona's allotment. At the same time, California legal experts claim it would have the effect of drastically curtailing this state's share of the flow from the Colorado.

Arizona filed the suit Aug. 8, 1962. Rifkind was the second master and the case was complicated by a number of additional parties entering into the case.

"The Supreme Court has given California good news," said Mosk. "We can anticipate an ultimate outcome more favorable than the decree which the special master recommended to the Supreme Court."

Charles E. Corker, assistant attorney general, said Rifkind's recommendations did not take into consideration provisions of the 1922 Colorado Compact and ignored state priorities in water allocations. He also said it failed to consider testimony by engineers that the river's mainstream flow has been beneath former levels.

A principal issue in lengthy hearings was the assured streamflow. California has insisted the river was not sufficient to meet the minimum demands of California and Arizona's request.

The Rifkind opinion referred to a basic streamflow of 7.5-million acre feet, allocating 2.8-million to Arizona.

Less Labor Trouble on Missiles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Labor disputes have caused far fewer interruptions in vital work at the nation's 22 missile bases and test centers this past year than ever before, a Labor Department official said Monday.

"Not a single strike was authorized at any of the 22 missile sites," said Julius Kuczma, executive secretary of President Kennedy's Missile Sites Labor Commission, which was formed last year.

Kuczma paid particular tribute to the rapidly improving labor picture here at Cape Canaveral. In 1957, a 25-day Teamsters Union strike idled 1,600 missile workers, causing a loss of more than 38,000 man-days of work and drawing sharp congressional criticism.

Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg, in a letter to local officials, said they had established an "outstanding record" in the past year by losing only 499 man-days of work out of 1,675,000 man-days worked.

Kuczma and other officials gave large credit for the improving situation at missile sites to recently established labor relations committees at each base and labor unions standing by "no strike pledges."

Kuczma said that as a result of increased efforts to avoid work stoppages at missile sites the highest lost time rate because of labor disputes at any of the 22 bases was lower than the national average.

Estes Probe Centered in New York

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Congressional investigation of Billie Sol Estes' tangled financial affairs now is centered here, it was revealed today.

Seven investigators on loan from the General Accounting Office to the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee have been in New York for three weeks looking over records of Commercial Solvents.

The first supplied Estes with a liquid fertilizer, mostly on credit, and loaned the Pecos, Tex., agriculture tycoon $225,000 in 1958 to get started in the grain storage business.

It was estimated that Estes already owed $5 million to Commercial Solvents at the time of the 1958 loan. Investigators said it was impossible to tell how much longer the check of Estes' dealings here would take.

Estes was charged on March 29 with shifting almost $30 million worth of bogus mortgages secured by liquid fertilizer tanks which did not exist.

Pershing Missile Blown Off Track, But Gets Back

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The Army's Pershing missile, momentarily pushed off course by simulated gale force winds, got back on the track Monday night in a 300-mile test flight.

The Pershing's success in the wind test came less than 12 hours after a Navy Polaris missile whirled off course, without any winds, just 90 seconds after launch and had to be destroyed.

Missilemen built 50-mile an hour winds into the brain of the 30-foot Pershing to see if its guidance system could right itself and get back on course.

The missile, launched in a colorful night firing, tilted just a bit at liftoff, then corrected itself and raced through the black sky. Its dummy warhead impacted in a target area downrange to rack up the Pershing's 31st success in 37 test missions here.

The study, to cost an estimated $2,700 to $2,800 will compare jobs here with comparable jobs in similar southern California communities. The classification portion of the study will compare job content here with other cities.

A possible five per cent average increase may result from the studies, but the classification study indicates the increases may not be across the board. Survey results are expected sometime this summer, probably in August, Charles Kasmer, assistant to the city manager reported.

Tough Job

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—Anybody who thinks his job is tough should consider that of a man responsible for setting up a new chemical plant.

Robert N. Stapleton, training director of Union Carbide Chemicals Co., told a recent meeting of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers that his duties in starting a new company plant at Torrance, Calif., included, "juggler of schedules, builder of blockboards, consultant, purchasing agent, janitor and laborer, working 12 to 16 hours a day—and nights or midnights."

Cadets at the Air Force Academy even walk high. The main academic area of the academy, located near Colorado Springs, Colo., is at an altitude of more than 7,000 feet.

Prices Dip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices fell by one-tenth of 1 per cent in the week ended May 29, the Labor Department said here. It brought the department's index of primary market prices to 100.1 per cent of its 1957-1959 base.

Berlin Wall Has Added Fascination

By ZANDER HOLLANDER
BERLIN (UPI)—The Communist "wall of shame" across Berlin has added to the outpost city's fascination for the Western visitor.

More than ever before, Berlin is the one point on the globe where the difference between Western democracy and Communism can be seen, heard and felt.

Lively, well-dressed people crowd West Berlin's Kurfuerstendamm, a combination Fifth Avenue-Broadway lined by dozens of fashionable, well-stocked shops and many sidewalk cafes.

By night the "Kudamm" gleams with bright neon, auto headlights and film marquees.

The bomb-shattered greystone tower of the Kaiser Wilhelm Memorial Church, retained as a conscience-jogging monument by the Berliners, is the sole reminder of World War II's devastation.

In contrast, a French girl who toured East Berlin recently said it "looks like our town three days after the Americans drove the Germans out."

In Ravaged State
Apart from the former Stalin Allee, now restored to its prewar name of Frankfurter Allee, and a few historic buildings, East Berlin is in many parts a city of waste and wreckage.

A bus tour of West and East Berlin—far the best way to see the difference—costs $3.75.

When the bus enters the Communist Friedrich Strasse wall opening opposite the U.S. Military Police "Checkpoint Charlie," East Berlin police put passengers through routine currency and passport controls.

A Communist guide boards the bus for the East Berlin tour to give an "ideologically correct" interpretation of the trip.

An American passport—or British or French—guarantees you access to East Berlin as a national of one of the four occupation powers.

The visitor can cross over on foot or by car or take the subway or elevated railway, if he doesn't take the bus tour. West Berliners, who have boycotted the Communist operated elevated since the wall went up, would prefer Westerners did not pay fares into Communist coffers.

In West Berlin the tour bus follows the wall along now-famous Bernauer Strasse, where the Communists forcibly evicted hundreds of families from houses fronting on the street and then walled up windows and doors facing West Berlin.

Monuments To Courage
A cross here, a wreath there, mark where desperate East Berliners died trying to break the barrier.

Less grim sights in West Berlin are architectural landmarks like the Congress Hall, a gift of the American government dubbed by epithet-loving Berliners the "pregnant oyster," the Hansa Quarter apartment area with each structure designed by a world famous architect, the 1936 Olympics Stadium where American Negro Jesse Owens enraged Nazi Fuehrer Adolf Hitler by taking championship laurels in two track events.

For all its involvement in the cold war struggle, West Berlin is a city which enjoys itself. Its nightlife is justly famous, some of its restaurants first rate.

And West Berlin is tourist-conscious in the extreme, recognizing in visitors a vital source of income and an even more vital link with the Free World.

Alexanders in Trip to Julian

By HELEN WOLLACOTT
PALM CITY — Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Alexander, 77600 California Drive, made a trip to Julian, to see the special exhibit of Desert Wild Flowers, some 200 to 600 specimens grown in that vicinity. It was most interesting and surprising — and their recommendations are that the Indio-Palm Desert area have similar showings of the desert flowers in this district, especially for the benefit of newcomers. En route home they visited the Pear and Apple areas around Julian and the Avocado groves near Fallbrook. Returning home via Highway 395 thru Hemet, they completed their trip with an evening dinner at Palm City's new Traylor Restaurant and Coffee Shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Klinga, 42340 Warner Trail, are entertaining house guests from Marysville, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weber. In commemoration of the Weber's 48th wedding anniversary, the Klingas entertained at the Howard Manor, Palm Springs. Also, visiting the Klingas, is their handsome 6-foot grandson, Robert Woods of Reseda, a renowned singer.

The Hammers, Anton and Ruth, 42445 Wisconsin, have been having a delightful time with their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Al Vinz of Pasadena. Later this week, the Hammers are anticipating a trip to Whittier and Los Angeles.

It was especially nice to greet our new comers, Mr. and Mrs. Frank (Pearl) Ruhr of 42480 Michigan, who visited our United Church of Palm City last Sunday. Mr. Ruhr is connected with the North American Aviation of Inglewood — and anticipates his retirement at an early date.

Mrs. Mildred (Mimi) Wilson, 42383 Wisconsin is anticipating the visitation of two old friends, one from Big Bear, Mrs. Mae Blackwell — and from Los Angeles, Mrs. La Vene Aikens. Mrs. Wilson also will guest a former "pal" from North American Aviation, Mrs. Virginia Jones.

Another expected group of guests are Wayne (Mike) and Dorothy Harris, Mr. Harris has been employed with the Los Angeles Public Library, relative to the purchase of books for the library. She anticipates retirement within the next past several days with friends at two months, after which time Mr. and Mrs. Harris will permanently reside in Palm City.

Jerry Peripoli of California Drive left for San Diego on Tuesday, to return his wife, Mrs. Margaret Peripoli, who has recently been in San Diego with her son's and daughter's families — for the past 10 days.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Packer, 77280 Minnesota, had a visit from their granddaughter for Memorial Day, Miss Donna Rovey, who attends Chaffey Junior College at Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Bellamy of Iowa Street will celebrate their 51st Wedding anniversary in Arcadia with Mrs. Bellamy's sister, Mrs. Ruby McCarthy, on May 31, congratulations!

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Long of Minnesota Street are leaving this coming week to visit their previous home at Roseburg, Ore. They will attend the Seattle Fair and also, visit Mrs. Long's mother and sister — as well as Long's brother. They anticipate being gone the entire summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Mundy, 77220 Michigan are looking forward to the arrival of Mundy's aunt and uncle from Emporia, Kan., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Marrel. They will visit Palm City for sometime after which they will tour towards the Northwest via Pacific Coast Highway.

Some Comfort Salvaged From Atom Shot Failure

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Atomic officials disappointed by today's test failure at Johnston Island salvaged comfort from the public's proof it provided that a nuclear warhead can be destroyed in flight without hurting anybody.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the warhead, carried aloft by a Thor missile, was deliberately blown into fragments when the tracking system failed.

The fragments fell into the sea and, the commission said, "there is no possibility that the fragments will explode in the ocean."

The AEC also said "it is not considered that they will cause hazardous levels of radioactivity in ocean water, or constitute a hazard to human life."

It was the first deliberate destruction of a missile-borne nuclear warhead before detonation in the history of atomic weapons, as far as is known here.

LEWD NOTES INVOLVED

Audie Murphy Relates Punching of Teenager

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—World War II hero Audie Murphy told police today he punched a teenager in an encounter with a pair of youths outside the apartment of a lady friend Sunday night.

Murphy, 36, America's most decorated soldier of World War II, reported to Hollywood police after Edward L. Mayer and Robert T. Beasley, both 18, filed a crime report charging Murphy with felonious assault.

The actor gave his side of the story:

"A couple of weeks ago my friend, Judy Pope, began receiving lewd and threatening telephone calls and lewd notes wrapped up in her morning newspaper.

"So after talking with the district attorney's office I swung by her apartment last night to pick up the notes. As I was leaving she got another call and was told to look in her mail box. There we found a dirty picture.

"I looked across the street and saw these two guys sitting in a car. It was about 10:15, so I went over and identified myself and showed them my deputy sheriff's badge.

"Then one of them got belligerant and slapped at my flashlight. Almost automatically I gave him a little punch in the face."

Murphy denied that he pulled his gun on the youths, adding that as a deputy sheriff he is entitled to carry a gun.

Mayer, who claimed Murphy pulled a .45 caliber automatic on him and hit him in the face, was treated for a bruised right cheek.

Murphy is a winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor and 23 other decorations.

To The Public:

We have planned for the community of Palm Springs a $10 million development of the historic Desert Inn property. Nothing like it has been seen or even projected for the desert area before.

In these plans are a 450 room hotel, tucked back against and blending in with the mountain backdrop. It will include a 1050 seat convention auditorium, restaurant, swimming pool, tennis courts. This new Desert Inn will be a showplace among the famous hotels of the world.

Access to the hotel will be along a 750 foot shopping mall, 120 feet wide, divided by a wide landscaped area highlighted by fountains. Here shops with an international flavor will attract discerning shoppers from all over the country.

The entire building area will occupy but 19 percent of the 800,000 square foot property, with the balance devoted to parking and extensive landscaping.

Of major interest and benefit to Palm Springs is our offer to dedicate access through the heart of our area for the cut through and extension of Bernardo Road. The value of this property to be dedicated has been conservatively appraised at $400,000. This would immeasurably alleviate present cross town traffic congestion problems.

The entire development, so as to be a cultural as well as a financial asset to Palm Springs, has been placed under the direction and planning of world-renowned architects Charles Luckman and Associates.

If our plans meet with the approval of the Planning Commission and City Council, we can complete specifications and preliminary site revisions within four months and actually have the new Desert Inn ready for occupancy and conventions by December, 1963. Delay will move us into the 1964 season and probably entail extensive revisions in our thinking.

We do not, however, wish to plan or construct anything contrary to the wishes of the community. We've had, in past years, too much a hand in the orderly development of Palm Springs to feel otherwise.

This is your community and we feel this development will enhance and benefit it and you.

If you think so, or if you disagree, make your wishes known to your city council and planning commission by writing, telephoning or in person at the hearing June 6.

In the interest of the growth of this community, please attend this meeting.

We thank you.

D.H.S. Improvement Group Wants Original Road Plan

By ELLEN SAUNDERS
DESERT HOT SPRINGS —The Desert Hot Springs Improvement Association will ask the Riverside County Board of Supervisors to adhere to their original plans to build a new road on the site of the present one to Eagle Mountain rather than to favor a new route, when the matter comes up for reconsideration on June 18.

The newspaper traces its history back 107 years to the date of the founding of the Evening Bulletin Oct. 8, 1855.
Latest change in its organization was made on Aug. 8, 1959, when the Hearst Call-Bulletin was consolidated with the Scripps-Howard San Francisco News.
Today's announcement said: "Apex Publishing Corporation, publisher of the News-Call Bulletin, today announced a change in ownership."
Hearst Publishing Company, Inc., acquires complete ownership of Apex through the purchase of the half interest held by Scripps-Howard.
"In 1959 the San Francisco News, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, and the Call-Bulletin, a Hearst newspaper, were combined as the News-Call Bulletin in an effort to eliminate the losses being incurred by both newspapers."
Editorial direction of the News-Call Bulletin was assumed by Scripps-Howard, with the Hearst Organization directing the business management and each company owning a half interest in the joint operation.
The News-Call Bulletin is San Francisco's only daily afternoon newspaper with the Hearst San Francisco Examiner and the independent San Francisco Chronicle occupying the morning field.

Strontium in Corn
UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) —Pennsylvania State University scientists are conducting research on the absorption of strontium by various strains of corn. The study is being carried out under a $41,866 grant from the Atomic Energy Commission. It is believed that one of the principal avenues for ingestion of strontium by humans is from milk from cows that have eaten corn-ensilage.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until noon you are apt to seek a fixed battle that could end pretty disastrously but try instead to keep cool, calm and collected and then you find you safely pass through today's treacherous waters. Then the P.M. is a time to look for ways to have bigger aims and ambitions so the future can produce finer opportunities. Avoid all legal entanglements now.

ARIES (Birthdays from Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Steer clear of altercation possible between associate and a trusted advisor over finances. Make constructive plans instead. Get together happily in P. M.

TAURUS (Birthdays from Apr. 20 to May 20) — Because of a misunderstanding of facts, a battle royal can ensue at home during the morning. Get matters straightened out tactfully in the afternoon. Restore harmony.

GEMINI (Birthdays from May 21 to June 21) — While you prefer to remain in your own comfortable niche, be sure you get out to important duties in A.M. Evening is fine for studying important data for future activities.

MOON CHILDREN (Birthdays from June 22 to July 21) — Take care you do not inadvertently start any arguments between friends in business and close ties. Get affairs in better order and all will be well. Be secure.

LEO (Birthdays from July 22 to Aug. 21) — Be diplomatic this morning when a strange-acting ally and a higher-up come together, or there can be real trouble. Later, sit down with a serious-minded associate and get ahead.

VIRGO (Birthdays from Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Strive for greater understanding with associates in A. M. by being less forceful than usual. Get busy later clearing up back work. Be efficient.

LIBRA (Birthdays from Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — A secret anxiety or some jealous emotion could keep you from fine benefits in outside world, if you permit. Get busy, then P. M., can be fun with friends.

SCORPIO (Birthdays from Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Strive for greater harmony with all this morning by studiously avoiding any subject that is controversial. Handle home matters wisely in P. M.

SAGITTARIUS (Birthdays from Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Work enthusiastically this morning and be sure you eradicate any errors made in the past. Be courteous, also in writing. P. M. fine for visits, phone calls.

CAPRICORN (Birthdays from Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Morning not good for monetary affairs, so be sure to concentrate on creative matters. Then busy yourself with property or money interests in P. M.

AQUARIUS (Birthdays from Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Take care not to argue at home this A. M. or unpleasant argument will result. Get to outside interests early. Come to real understanding with associates in P. M.

PISCES (Birthdays from Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Instead of arguing because you are in a temporary mood of feeling inadequate, study your paper for ideas, talk to informed persons. Also, get residence in better order.

If Your Child Is Born Today, He, or she, will be one of those little youngsters who seems to be born with a chip on the shoulder and consequently the young life is full of battles and arguments. be sure to teach early to smile instead and be careful with your progeny's diet. Then upon reaching majority the chart becomes very successful, since there is a fine ability to think big here.

Sinatra in Newspaper Squabble

LONDON (UPI) — The Daily Mirror, Britain's largest daily circulation newspaper, reported a squabble today with singer Frank Sinatra.

The Mirror, which claimed Sinatra did not show up for rehearsals for his weekend television show, published a telegram it said was received from Sinatra. "Sinatra blows his top again," the paper said of Sinatra, who is in England for charity appearances.

The Mirror said Sinatra accused the paper of failing to find out "that I wasn't supposed to be there (at the rehearsal)."

"Irresponsible journalism stinks," the Mirror quoted him as saying.

Mirror television editor Clifford Davis, who made the charge about the rehearsal, quoted a spokesman for the British independent television network as saying Sinatra was supposed to show up.

"But never mind," Davis said. "I saw that TV show of yours and let's face it, you were great. Don't let a missed rehearsal come between us, Mr. S."

"I suppose that if you're Sinatra you don't have to rehearse anyway."

Bear Tracks

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—When Michigan warns motorists of bear crossings, it isn't fooling. During construction of Interstate 75, a bear came out one night and walked through fresh concrete. By morning, it was too late to erase the tracks. The track-marked stretch of highway near Indian River is marked with a sign reading "bear crossing."

American Legion, Auxiliary To Hold Joint Installation

Installation of new officers for 1962-63 will be held at the final meeting of the season for Owen Coffman Unit 519, American Legion Auxiliary, at Wars Memorial Building, Saturday, June 9 at 8 p.m.

Officers to be installed for the coming year, H. Gerald Helmer as Commander of the American Legion and Mrs. Jane Goff as President of the Auxiliary.

With Mrs. Lisette Stone, President of the 21st District as installing officer and her team of 21st District Past Presidents, the following Auxiliary officers will be installed: Mrs. Jane Goff as president, Isabella Hieson, 1st vice president; Ruth Allen, 2nd vice president; Helen Allen, recording secretary; Emma Shurtleff, corresponding secretary; Frances Heath, treasurer and Martha Helmer and Dolores Lowery, executive committeewomen.

The president's annual report, to be given by retiring president Mrs. Lina Rhode, will reveal active participation in all of the major programs of the Auxiliary, particularly the Child Welfare, Rehabilitation, Americanism, Legislation and Poppy programs.

The hospitality committee headed by Ruth Allen will be in charge of the social hour at the close of the meeting, serving refreshments of sandwiches and punch.

A gram of pure silver can be drawn into a wire one mile long.

TAKEN BY A PLEASANT SURPRISE, from left, were Mmes. F. G. Ewing, Vera Sheptenko, Donald Fry and Wilson Gibbs, as they entered the Trinidad Hotel for luncheon. The surprise luncheon was a thank you from the Welfare and Friendly Aid Society for the years of untiring work the women have done for Little House, and was attended by their co-workers. (Desert Sun Photo)

MRS. WALTER KLOCKE, center, accepts her gavel from Mrs. Joseph Lukomski, installing officer, as she begins her second term as president of Desert Hot Springs Woman's Club. Watching the ceremony is Mrs. Oliver Moore, 2nd vice president in charge of programs.

IN DESERT HOT SPRINGS

President Is Re-elected

For a second term Mrs. Walter Klocke was installed as president of the Desert Hot Springs Woman's Club at a luncheon meeting held at the Highlander Restaurant.

Other officers installed by Mrs. Joseph Lukomski, founder and past president of the club were: Mrs. Oliver Moore, second vice president; Mrs. Willa Hellbush, treasurer; Mrs. Ira L. Moore, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Judge King, recording secretary; Mrs. C. C. Van Arsdale, historian; Mrs. E. A. Shipp, chaplain; Mrs. Esther Wood, sergeant-at-arms; and Mrs. Earl Farmer, a member of the board of directors.

Mmes. Donald Hulbert and Charles Haymes served as standing for Mrs. Laura Fisher, 1st vice president and Mrs. John Hunt, board member who were unable to be present.

A golden horn filled with plastic fruit symbolizing the contribution each new officer would make, was presented to Mrs. Klocke. In her acceptance speech, Mrs. Klocke announced that her theme for 1962-63 would be tolerance.

Mrs. Joseph Lukomski reviewed the highlights of the 1962 season, which included a dinner given by the club which netted $300 for Angel View Crippled Children's Foundation, and the leadership the club had taken in spearheading a drive among agencies within the community to contribute funds with-which to purchase kitchen equipment for the Eighth Street Community Center. This leadership resulted in a total contribution to the Center of $636.03, $344.45 of which represented the net profits from the very successful Fun Fair put on by the club. The remainder was contributed to other agencies.

Mrs. Lukomski also reported that the poolside fashion show and luncheon which the club had planned to put on in June for the benefit of Desert Beautiful had been cancelled. However, the club may be asked to help with fund raising activities for Desert Beautiful in October.

Mrs. Gilbert Holloway, outgoing historian presented a concise report of the year's highlights and Mrs. Howard B. Greene treasurer reported a bank balance of over $7,000.

An announcement was made that bridge sessions would be held each Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the Arroyo Street Community Center. Beginners will be particularly welcome at the sessions which will continue all summer if sufficient interest is maintained.

175 Years Service Honored

TWENTYNINE PALMS — More than 175 years of Marine Corps service were honored at the Marine Base here when Lt. Col. C. E. Rulton, Major R. A. Davidson, Capt. P. P. Butz, Capt. G. P. Endicott, Capt. W. Toth, Jr., Capt. R. S. Soehner, Staff Sgt. J. A. Brown, and Staff Sgt. C. E. Russell witnessed their retirement parade.

The parade was held on the upper parade field and was viewed by the commanding officer of Support Battalion with units from Support Battalion and 2nd Light Anti-aircraft Missile Battalion participating.

The Base band played the usual marches, and as the last company of troops passed the reviewing stand, the band played the traditional "Auld Lang Syne."

As the last notes of the song faded, the Band concluded the parade with the "Marine Corps Hymn" and the eight Marines knew that their careers as Marines had come to a close. They have served their country for many years and through two wars leaving their honorable mark with their country.

No Market For Keys

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI)—The vice admiral who commands the Navy's amphibious forces in the Pacific arrived here Monday with a pocketful of keys to the city of San Diego, Calif. But he found little market for them.

Vice Adm. H. A. Yeager planned to bestow the keys to University of Kansas ROTC students and graduates, who will participate in a naval exercise and cruise this summer at San Diego.

But there was only one member of that group on campus, sophomore Alan E. Hardarfer of Lawrence. The others returned to their homes last week when classes ended.

Now Marine Has a Bed

Robert Lewis Shelstad, a 19-year-old 29 Palms Marine who was arrested early Sunday for not being able to find his own bed, has been given assistance by the Palm Springs Desert Municipal Court Police Department.

Shelstad was arrested for drunk and disorderly conduct. Sentenced to 30 days, 20 suspended, 10 days room and bed to be furnished by the Indio Sheriff's office.

When Shelstad tried to get some sleep Sunday night, he went to bed in an already occupied room at the Riviera hotel. His host wasn't so happy about the Marine invasion.

Young Mexican Girl Found in Poor Condition

A young Mexican girl was found unconscious in the front yard of Abe M. Goss of Palm Springs Monday afternoon, then was determined to be intoxicated by city firemen called for assistance, according to police.

The juvenile later admitted to being illegally in the United States, according to the report by police, who are holding her for drunk and disorderly conduct — and for immigration officers.

TV in Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Eighteen years ago this Wednesday, Adolf Hitler relaxed at his mountain retreat with his mistress; German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was home for his wife's birthday, and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower prayed.

It was D-Day, June 6, 1944, and the Germans had been lulled into thinking bad weather would deter an Allied invasion. Sunday night, with rare films that swept from the highest headquarters to the most lowly invasion boats, NBC-TV's "Show of the Week" told the story of that largest military landing in history.

Narrated sparingly and poetically by actor Richard Basehart, and accompanied by a musical score by Elmer Bernstein that caught the exhilaration of war and the exhilaration of triumph, the program's newsreel shots were abetted by captured film never before aired.

And out of this film emerged, once again, the fascination of the tragic military genius, Rommel — "The Desert Fox" — who eventually realized Hitler's madness, who became involved in the unsuccessful generals' plot to kill the Nazi dictator with a planted bomb, and who won tributes from Sir Winston Churchill and other foes.

Captured footage showed Rommel inspecting the "Atlantic Wall" of German defense, which appalled him with its inadequacy. He bolstered it with devilish devices: pointed logs, barbed wire and millions of mines which later took their toll when invasion forces slogged ashore.

There was also a superb shot of Eisenhower munching on a sandwich as the then president, Franklin D. Roosevelt, spoke to him in a car.

But perhaps the most brilliant and suspensefully edited film was of the fighting men themselves: American and British soldiers on an invasion boat softly singing "Home on the Range"; paratroopers being visited personally by Ike before they took off; English music hall entertainers performing for many men who soon would die; and the bloody beach scenes caused by wrong landings and lack of protective fire.

One wishes that producer David Wolper had made this fine achievement into two hour-long shows. The wealth of material being compressed into 54 minutes of air time made the program, of necessity, virtually a series of climaxes. Expansion would have allowed for more use of individual experiences as counterpoint to the massive whole — a technique employed masterfully by Cornelius Ryan in his book, "The Longest Day," the story of D-Day now being made into a movie by Darryl Zanuck.

A Well-Deserved Tribute

That was a well-deserved tribute given George Bond and his Palm Springs Unified School District transportation department the other day.

Under Bond's direction, the local district enjoys an enviable record throughout the state and in the nation, 18 years of accident-free school bus service.

As Chief of Police G. A. Kettmann phrased it, the school transportation department qualifies as the "championship safety team in California." The chief should know, for Bond and his highly safety-conscious crews have always worked closely with the police traffic division.

The school transportation department doesn't confine its activities to marshalling the youngsters into and out of school busses and at the same time protecting them from forgetful or careless motorists, seeing to it that all is on schedule and watching out for its charges in transit.

The mere physical task of rolling the busses back and forth in their routes is but a small part of their job.

Ever since George Bond took charge of the school transportation department 18 years ago he has been thinking up and putting into effect new methods to inculcate safety habits, not only with the children entrusted to his department but to the department employees, the motorist public, the parents, the teachers and all concerned.

Along with safety checks of the equipment, there has been driver education, public education and, of course, safety education for the children.

Enlarging the field, he promoted driver education lessons for the older students in the high school age bracket and Palm Springs was among the first cities in the state with classes in safe motoring for its pupils.

But Bond has had help and great help, too, in piling up the enviable safety record of the Palm Springs Unified District.

This was shown by that well-earned award to Earl Keefer, veteran school bus driver, for his long record of piloting a load of school youngsters for eleven years without a mishap.

And, as George Sanborn, president of Palm Springs Safety Council said, that beyond the drivers and the school administration there was the work of each individual teacher in the various schools of the district. Great credit goes to them for their work in emphasizing safety slogans and methods which have been drilled into the youngster so that they became second nature. These lessons have followed the pupils into the workaday world after the end of school days with beneficial results.

The local safety record has its material side, too. It has earned for the district the maximum insurance discount.

But the greatest satisfaction is that experienced by the parents.

They know that their children are in good and safe hands on the highways between home and school.

Our Chamber Deserves Your Support

The Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce is seeking new members.

The work of the chamber covers a much wider field than just advertising and publicizing the city, looking after its economic well-being, a clearing house for the processing of ideas for the betterment of Palm Springs.

There are a dozen little details each day which have to be attended to, little items to keep the chamber staff occupied the full day and into overtime.

These many little chores of which the public is not often aware, are all for the betterment of every one of us. And every one of us should therefore be willing to assist.

Why join your chamber?

Well, a member of the chamber is a successful man. Not necessarily successful because he is a member, but rather he is a member because he is successful.

He knows the objectives of the chamber of commerce, to better the city which it serves and he has sufficient interest, energy and loyalty to improve things for himself. To do that he is a member of the chamber of commerce.

By improving things for himself, he improves things for the community in which he lives and does business.

And he can best do this as a member of the chamber of commerce.

The chamber is all out for you and your city. And that should be a two-way street—chamber membership will assure.

We can remember the good old days when you could devote your thoughts to outer space without its costing you anything—Cincinnati Enquirer.

You're not too smart if you think a nest egg is only for the birds.

A man is never too old to learn although he usually is too young to realize it.

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

The Men Behind the Senators

WASHINGTON, D. C. — With ten candidates previously select the ruthless process of elimination must grind out a Man Behind the Senator, the staff assistant who seems best at the demanding, inconspicuous, often unrewarding but ever important work of discovering gut issues and researching them to the core.

Some of these staffers are diametrically opposite in their nature and approach, although they often do similar work. Jerome Adlerman of McClellan's staff ferrets out profiteering among big companies which make weapons for the Government, and John Blair of Kefauver's staff ferrets out price-protections of Big Business.

But if Adlerman has any political or ideological bent I have never noticed it in ten or twelve years of acquaintance. A lawyer, in Government since 1941, he likes detective work, does it silently and superbly, without apparent relish or distaste. Blair, a Ph. D. economist in government posts since 1938, always had a warm heart for what he calls "competition" and a Liberal's hatred of the monopolists. Both Adlerman and Blair, however they may differ, are demon investigators.

Little Similarity
Bob McCaughey, Bill Murphy and Carl Marcy work respectively for Senators Mundt, Scott and Fulbright, but there is little similarity. Mundt's office is homogeneous, informal, educative, low-keyed. Everybody in Mundt's office is from South Dakota. McCaughey and Mundt, both college debaters, began life as school teachers. They are very much aware of how every Federal bill bounces out West, but the office's main concern lies in the spectacular business of getting Americans to make the best use of Democracy. For this purpose, McCaughey reads, writes, thinks and interviews as to be consultative with his fast friend Karl on crops, Communism, electoral college reform, and establishment of a Freedom Academy for training recruits in the art of the Cold War.

Bill Murphy, as a Catholic University law student, went to work for Scott in 1953, and has remained to become administrative assistant, researcher, speech drafter, and idea man for the dynamic Senator who looms big as a notional Republican.

Carl Marcy, unlike McCaughey and Murphy, is not a political partisan. He tells me: "If I had to characterize my politics, I would say that I belong to the Congressional party. My politics would be to keep Congress exerting independent judgment on everything that the Executive proposes. If Democrats hate Republicans, the natural enemy of the Congressional party is the Executive party."

Marcy, a Ph. D. graduate from Columbia and member of the New York Bar, has served under both parties and five Foreign Relations Chairmen—Connally, Wiley, George, Green and Fulbright. His title is chief of staff, and is self-explanatory.

Different Directions

Two ultra-conservations of the list approached their positions from different directions. Mike Bernstein, a lawyer and former editor of the Literary World, a one-time high-brow reviewer of foreign literature, is a well-read man who radiates ideas and abominates Leftists, whom he regards as unprincipled and unpatriotic by nature. Mike thinks of himself vaguely as a protégé of the late Chief Justice Arthur Vandenberg of New Jersey, once Dean of New York University Law School where Bernstein studied. Mike came to the Labor-Welfare Committee under Senator Taft and was happiest during the 86th Congress when he supplied amendments and ideas with which Goldwater almost daily needed young Senator Kennedy, whose knowledge of Labor law was rudimentary. Today Bernstein is a one-man brain trust for conservatism in Labor relations.

Jay Souviney left the Reno (Nev.) Evening Gazette during the depression because he dreamed of Washington as the "Hollywood" of political writers. He took a night school law degree, in 1942 became assistant and protégé of the late Senator Pat McCarran, a great warrior against Communism, and fiddlesticks. Much of the Leftist odium with McCarran, author of the Internal Security and Immigration Acts, rubbed off on Souviney—who bears it lightly. His influence on Chairman Eastland of Judiciary and Internal Security is inconspicuous but immense.

These, then, are seven Men Behind the Senators. They play an awesome part in the mysterious ways in which the Senate moves—an awesome part, and in every case, I believe, a part that is necessary and beneficial to the nation. But there are three remaining Men Behind the Senator from whom the ultimate winner must be chosen.

You can have all of the FUN in the SUN that you want and at any time, so long as you are in the Desert Empire, but you can't have FUN or SUN fore and aft on your horseless carriage. The California Department of Motor Vehicles says so.

WHEN THE STATE announced some time ago that every motor car owner would receive new license plates come January 1, 1963, the campaign to have all plates starting with SUN assigned to the Desert Empire was reactivated.

Desert area enthusiasts promoted that deal back in 1956 when the letter-number combinations were first proposed. They wanted SUN for automobiles registered to local motorists but the state turned them down flat.

Too much extra work and besides the SUN combinations wouldn't be reached for a year or two.

WHEN THE DMV figured they'd get to ZZZ-999 by the end of 1962 and that the plates first issued six years ago, in 1956, were pretty dilapidated, they said that on Jan. 1, 1963, they'd start all over with AAA-000 and that everyone would get bright, new plates with the yellow and black colors reversed.

That gave desert residents the idea again. With Jack Meany, who came here to retire after an active life in Los Angeles, spearheading the drive, they bombarded Tom Bright, DMV chief, with letters, asking SUN plates for the desert area.

THE SAME ARGUMENTS which were used against the plan in 1956, were trotted out again—too much book work, would set a bad favoritism precedent, the SUN combination wouldn't be reached until 1966, and, besides, there were only 1,000 such plates.

The local boosters raised the ante 1,000 by suggesting FUN plates, too.

This time the state stalled so long in its reply that hope arose that maybe we'd win.

BUT NOTHING DOING. Cliff Brown, publicity man at the chamber of commerce got a letter. It was about 300 words long. But it said only one word. NO.

The state couldn't show any favoritism to any area, said Tom Bright. People would want special plates with their initials or business or whatever they thought of and the license department would be in a mess.

The plates will go out as always, willy-nilly without regard to what's on 'em.

SO UP AT PETALUMA, where chickens are the big thing and the fog is sometimes classified as pea soup, they may get EGG.

And down here where the sun is the main item, we may get EGG.

Cliff Brown is thankful they don't use the letter O on plates. Or they'd probably send us FOG.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN:

Dear Abby . . .

DEAR ABBY: I was never in love when I was a girl. I married a man my parents thought would be good for me. I am 49, a widow and the grandmother of seven. I met a man last summer and have fallen in love with him. He is 56, single and says he is in love with me, too. We are getting married soon. So many of my friends tell me that people our age marry only for "companionship" or convenience, but we are too old for love. His relatives tell him he is in his second childhood. Is love only for the young, Abby? —YOUNG AT HEART

DEAR YOUNG: "Love" is for anybody with the emotional capacity to enjoy it. Age means nothing.

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about those women who get all dolled up and go to hospitals and make a wreck of the patients? Last week my married daughter went to the hospital for a major operation. The families on both sides agreed that no one except her husband should visit her because they wanted her to get plenty of rest. They even put a "no visitors" sign on her door. The mother of a friend of hers barged in to "cheer her up." She brought her all the bad news and gossip in town. She carried a big box of pictures of her whole family and talked on and on. She stayed two hours and my daughter was nearly in hysterics by the time this woman left. How can a helpless patient protect herself against such "do-gooders"? —SICK GIRL'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Unless the patient has the courage to point out the "no visitors" sign she is indeed helpless. Most hospitals have rigid regulations about who shall visit and how long they may stay. And those that don't, should.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old, and the most miserable girl alive. I've been told that I have a very pretty face. I am five feet three and weigh 225 pounds. My parents took me to a doctor four months ago, and he put me on 900 calories a day. I lost 18 pounds, but then I started eating things that weren't on my diet, and I put it all back again. I gain an average of 20 pounds a year. Abby, I want to die. I look at myself, and I am disgusted. I cry a lot. But I cry and eat. Now I am crying, but I just got through stuffing my face. Please tell me how to stick to a diet once and for all. —HOPELESS

DEAR HOPELESS: Who said you were hopeless? I don't believe it. (1) Buy yourself the size dress you want to be, and try it on every night. (2) Paste a picture of a beautifully proportioned girl on your bathroom mirror. (3) Put a sign on the refrigerator door, "It's not worth it!" (4) Exercise everything but your jaws. (5) Pray!

DEAR ABBY: We are a group of secretaries who wish to form a club. We plan to set aside one night a month to honor our bosses. We will have a cocktail hour, dinner and a program. The program will contain serious talk about our goals and aims. The object is to achieve a better understanding with our bosses to what is expected of us, and him. Each member (married or single) invites her boss (married or single). The property of this plan. We welcome your opinion. —THREE SECRETARIES

DEAR SECRETARIES: I can not speak for all bosses, or their secretaries. But every respected "boss" that I know is neither drinking companion, dinner partner nor willing wall to his secretary. A first-class secretary never only to get to work on time, put in an honest day's work and go home. Socializing with the boss, even collectively on "Bosses' Night," could become Bosses' Nightmare.

Still worrying about the same old problem? Write to Abby for a personal reply. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BOB CONSIDINE:

Socialized Medicine, England's Experience

NEW YORK — Britain plunged into the uncertain waters of socialized medicine 14 years ago. Let's take time out from our own Great Debate to examine the score, as it now stands, in England and Wales.

No one is forced to make use of the National Health Service but 97 per cent of the population has flocked to it. Only 600 doctors out of a total of more than 22,000 remain outside the service. A number of doctors have left Britain for the U.S. and other countries whose medical care is still under private enterprise, but the Rt. Hon. Enoch Powell, Minister of Health, maintained in a recent speech before the Royal College of Surgeons that this emigration as a "latter day exodus." There are more doctors and more services than ever, he declared.

The program in England and Wales is run by about 500,000 doctors, dentists, opticians, nurses, technicians, specialists, midwives, clerks, administrators, domestics and 10,000 assorted volunteers. The service is free, with a few exceptions. One pays his chemist 28 cents to fill an otherwise free prescription; $1.75 per lens, plus the cost of the frames, for new spectacles; $2.80 for dental treatment (or the actual cost of less than a $2.80 job), about half the actual cost of false teeth—but not beyond $14—and certain body appliances.

The British are touchy about the words "socialized medicine" and resent the general impression through the world that it was the work of the Labor Party no longer in power.

The plan first was presented by a Liberal, Sir William (later Lord) Beveridge, in 1942. "... to ensure that for every citizen there is available whatever medical treatment he requires in whatever form he requires it, domiciliary or institutional, general, specialist or consultant, and will ensure also the provision of dental, ophthalmic and surgical appliances, nursing and midwifery, and rehabilitation after accidents." Winston Churchill, Conservative, issued a White Paper in 1944 calling for adoption of the Beveridge plan, and the government of Clement Attlee, Labor, passed it.

Britons, particularly of the lower middle class and below, traditionally almost never patronized doctors before the passage of the law. In a wrenching reversal they swamped the services at first, causing chaos and alarm. There were lurid tales of unprincipled dentists whose income jumped to as much as $50,000 a year, filling teeth already filled, and much unneeded surgery and the fitting of unwanted eyeglasses and trusses. But the Macmillan government coolly announces from time to time that all is in order—except perhaps the indignant lady who mails her dentures to the Prime Minister every now and then to complain that they don't fit. Doctors' incomes, and those of other professionals, are now under the control of the Royal Commission on Doctors' and Dentists' Remuneration, and are quite modest by American standards. They work a six-day week, rotate on night - day assignments, get in some outside work and study on the side, and are given four-week or six-week annual vacations, according to their status. The normal retiring age for hospital medical staffers is 65, or, under special circumstances, 70.

A visitor to Britain who becomes ill is entitled to free medical care, but if he goes there for that specific purpose he must pay. It is not known how this applies in the case of certain services of N.H.S. For example, it provided 11,156 artificial legs in England and Wales in 1960, and 9,453 artificial eyes, 59,000 hearing aids and 8,521 wigs. N.H.S. picked up the tab for 782,637 registered births. It entitles a person to consult a private diagnostician, pay to find out what's wrong, then enter an N.H.S. hospital and have the matter taken care of "free."

It isn't free, of course. Beveridge spoke of it as "... a new public responsibility ... to see that all medical facilities are available to all people." The heavy costs are defrayed by national and local taxation, payroll deductions and, to a small degree (1-20th) from certain less-than-cost charges.

Letters to The Editor

Dear Sir,

Don't get me wrong — I like dogs — some of my better friends are dogs — but for goodness sake, cannot something be done about the messy situation on Palm Canyon Drive, north and south?

Why can't they curb their dogs? It isn't nice to see tourists and natives playing hopscotch on our beautiful boulevard merely to protect their nice clean shoes from unnecessary soilage.

I recommend "doggy comfort stations" which could be built at low cost around the trees!!

Yours in good taste

L.A. Dodgers in Pittsburgh For Twin Bill With Pirates

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Election Day in California just meant another doubleheader as far as the Los Angeles Dodgers were concerned.

Los Angeles, back in stride with a 6-3 win on Sandy Koufax' fastball pitching, took on the Pittsburgh Pirates today in their fourth doubleheader in 10 days. They won all three of their most recent bargain outings, two from Philadelphia and one from the Mets.

But the last time they took on the Bucs in two, they lost both three-run homer to provide the losers with their only runs.

Koufax also struck out 13 men, bringing his total for the year to 123. He also ran his streak of 10 strikeouts-or-more per game to four straight.

The Dodgers got to usually troublesome Art Mahaffey of Phillies early and never were in serious trouble. Maury Wills singled as leadoff batter, stole second—his 28th theft of the year—and came all the way home on successive bunts by Willie and Tom Davis. Tommy's bunt caught the Phils flatfooted and went for a single.

Wally Moon, inserted in the lineup to bolster the briefly sagging rookies, had a perfect day at the plate. He and John Roseboro hit back-to-back solo homers in the second inning—the third of the season for each man.

Moon also contributed a run-scoring double in the eighth, bringing home Tommy Davis after the latter singled.

Tommy, now hitting at a .333 clip, boosted his league leading runs batted in total to 56. At his current pace, he figures to produce the greatest RBI figure for a season for any Dodger since the team moved west.

PLAY-OFF NEAR

Little League Clubs Stage Exciting Tilts

Little Leaguers continued to keep the base paths humming in league action at the John Williams ball park and with the end of the regular season only five weeks away a battle is on for third and fourth place as the Simsarian and Jr. Police teams are leading the pack.

The Simsarian stickmen have won seven and dropped two in league action, while the Jr. Police nine have six victories, one defeat and two ties. Both teams have a point standing of 14 tallies and are leading the league by three points. The P.S. Water Co. is currently in third place with a total of 11 points and the Rotary Club leads rest in fourth place with nine points.

The other four teams, Sambo's, Hathaway Braves, C.V.S.L.A. and C.N.B. are tied with six points apiece. Only the top four teams compete in the play-offs for the Sear's Trophy and the championship of the city.

"Form" of a champion
THEY'RE NEVER too old to play golf and never too young. Golf's unique tournament, the National Pee Wee Golf championship, won't attract Arnold Palmer or Sam Snead to Orlando, Fla., June 12, but some 250 youngsters from three to 15 will be on hand to participate in the 16th renewal. Entrants compete in five age groups, the three-to-five-year-olds playing just three holes and the 10-12s and 13-15s going 36 holes.

Big Field Entered in 'Laurie's Black Angus'

Golfers playing the first "Laurie's Black Angus" Invitational golf tournament will tee-off Wednesday morning in the first round of the 36-hole event at the Palm Springs Golf Course seeking awards in two classes plus a special pro flight.

Following the first 18-holes of play tomorrow, the same participants will be on the links Thursday for the final round of play in the "Laurie's Black Angus" which Fred Mottile, sponsor of the event, hopes will mushroom into one of the biggest and most popular off-season golf tournaments in the Palm Springs area.

Wednesday's starting times:
First Tee — 8 a.m. Bernard Duffy, Zell Eaton, Gene Lesch, Stan Jaloff; 8:07—Bill Hokey, LeRoy Linick, W. R. Burke, Paul Martin; 8:15—Seaman Kay, Dave Anderson, Nick Turzian, Pete Reynard; 8:22—F.W. Fast Field in Argonaut Stakes at Hollywood Park

Competition in three-year-old thoroughbred ranks at Hollywood Park will reach its highest point so far this season on Saturday in the $30,000 added Argonaut Stakes at a mile and one-sixteenth.

The Argonaut will bring together one of the greatest bands of three-year-olds in the Inglewood track's history, with the winners of the two divisions of the Will Rogers Stakes on Memorial Day, Rex Ellsworth's Wallet Lifter and Kerr Stables' Prince of Plenty, leading the battle.

In the Will Rogers first division Wallet Lifter turned back a fast field, including Mr. and Mrs. Fred Turner, Jr.'s Sir Ribot, who went unplaced as the even-money choice. Wallet Lifter toured the mile in 1:35 in making his first trip around two turns in his brief career.

Sir Ribot, fourth in the Kentucky Derby and winner of the California Derby Trial, is expected to be much tougher after his first outing over the Hollywood strip.

Prince of Plenty was timed in 1:34 3-5 in winning the Will Rogers second division. His time was only a fifth of a second off the world's record for a three-year-old at the distance, first set in 1937 by the Kerr equine millionaire Round Table.

Angels Open 3-Game Set With Chicago White Sox

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Either Bo Belinsky or Dean Chance is slated to go to the mound for the Los Angeles Angels tonight against the Chicago White Sox in their second meeting of the season in the Chavez Ravine ball park.

Belinsky won the first game of the previous home series against the White Sox, but Chicago won the next two games to take the series.

The Angels opened their current American League campaign against the White Sox at Chicago, splitting two tight contests by a run each with a 2-1 loss and a 1-0 win. The Sox hold a 3-2 advantage over the Angels so far this year and edged Los Angeles by a margin of 10-8 last season.

Fans will see the two teams in action again Wednesday night and on Thursday afternoon.

Both teams had the day off Tuesday.

Joel Horlen is expected to hurl for Chicago in the opener. He beat Chance with a 7-6 decision here on May 12.

The Angels, who lost to the New York Yankees, 6-3, Sunday, are now in fifth place in the American League, 2 1/2 games out, a game ahead of the sixth place White Sox, 3 1/2 games out. They face Kansas City and Minnesota after the series with Chicago before starting a long road trip.

Manager Bill Rigney is very pleased with the crowds he has been getting in the Chavez Ravine stadium the Angels share with the Dodgers. Their attendance so far this year is 352,499—including crowds of over 50,000 last Friday and Saturday nights—with 56 more home games to go.

Lawyer Says L.A. Dodgers Owe $100,000 Back Taxes

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Dodgers owe the county more than $100,000 in back taxes for 1960 and 1961, according to attorney Phil Silver.

In a letter to County Assessor John R. Quinn Friday, Silver charged that if Quinn's office does not assess the Dodgers taxes due on acreage in Chavez Ravine he will file a taxpayers suit against Quinn.

Silver charges Walter O'Malley and the Dodgers took possession of 315 acres prior to March, 1960, but taxes were not assessed for the year of 1960. He claims total taxes due are more than $100,000.

Silver also said that 40 acres of the area were "overlooked" and not assessed for taxes in 1961. Quinn maintains the deed to the property was not executed until August, 1960, after the March deadline for tax assessments. This would mean no taxes were due in 1960.

Quinn denied the 40 acres were overlooked and actually the Dodgers are paying taxes on the land at the highest possible rate.

Dr. Musial is Same Person as Stan-The-Man

MONMOUTH, ILL. (UPI) — Dr. Stan Musial and Stan Musial are one and the same.

Stan The Man, the 41-year-old record setter for the St. Louis Cardinals, received an honorary doctor of humanities degree from Monmouth College today during graduation ceremonies.

President Robert W. Gibson, in presenting the degree, said Musial represents "the highest type of excellence in your profession."

Musial was applauded by the 134 seniors receiving degrees, but did not make an acceptance speech. He was accompanied by his wife and son, who was graduated Sunday from Notre Dame.
